II. Organizational Context and Purpose for the job

The fundamental mission of UNICEF is to promote the rights of every child, everywhere, in everything the organization does, in programmes, in advocacy and in operations. The equity strategy, emphasizing the most disadvantaged and excluded children and families, translates this commitment to children's rights into action. For UNICEF, equity means that all children have an opportunity to survive, develop and reach their full potential, without discrimination, bias or favoritism. To the degree that any child has an unequal chance in life, in its social, political, economic, civic and cultural dimensions, her or his rights are violated. There is growing evidence that investing in the health, education and protection of a society's most disadvantaged citizens not only will give all children the opportunity to fulfill their potential but also will lead to sustained growth and stability of countries. This is why the focus on equity is so vital. It accelerates progress towards realizing the human rights of all children, which is the universal mandate of UNICEF, as outlined by the Convention on the Rights of the Child, while also supporting the equitable development of nations.

Job organizational context: The Education Specialist is to be used in a Lubumbashi DRC, covering the provinces of Haut-Katanga, Lualaba and Haut-Lomami, where the Education Programme is a component of the Lubumbashi UNICEF Office strategy which is itself part of UNICEF Country Programme (or UNDAF). Context and strategy: The UNICEF programme is implemented in the provinces of Haut-Katanga, Lualaba et du Haut-Lomami. The local context is relatively stable and calls for a developmental response to children's deprivations. The region is characterized by a prominent mining industry which highly influences the life of neighboring communities and conditions of children's development. Despite a booming private sector, the MICS indicators are low and the main problematics affecting children are malnutrition, workforce in dangerous conditions, street children, early marriage and emergency such as cholera and measles. To address those problematics, UNICEF proposes a five parts integrated response: Access to quality basic social services, community of youth mobilization, cash transfer and management, engagement with the private sector and management of protection cases. In each of these responses, the Education programme has a key role to play. For the next few years, the Education programme is expected to step on priority activities such as case management, reduction of violence toward children, youth participation, registration with Civil Status Office, school health, income generating
