Individual Contractor: Support UNICEF Moldova CO in communication and community mobilization activities under HPV+ project

Location: Chisinau, Republic of Moldova
Duration of contract: November 2020 – May 2021 (6 months, with possibility of extension)

1. Background

UNICEF Moldova supports its governmental and civil society counterparts in delivering a package cross-sectorial intervention for adolescents, as coordinated investments in adolescents’ health and wellbeing are among the “best investments that can be made by the human community to achieve the SDGs. The Republic of Moldova has decided to introduce HPV vaccination, which is provided free of charge to 10-years-old girls in 2017.

Since this age group is being accessed for the first time systematically and with high coverage, the HPV vaccination program is a platform for integrating additional high-impact adolescent-related interventions, like the adolescent mental health & psychosocial support, with a focus on the prevention of bullying and violence. Bullying greatly affects the mental health and wellbeing of children and adolescents and has been associated with depression, anxiety, self-harm, suicide, alcohol and drug use, poor academic performance, and aggressive behaviour. According to preliminary results from a UNICEF Study from 2019 undertaken in schools, bullying has a prevalence of 86.8% among adolescents, with bullies representing 41.1% of the total number of students. Additionally, young adolescents (age 10-14) in Moldova are also vulnerable to violent discipline in their households. The most recent Multiple Indicator Cluster Survey (MICS) found that 37% of adolescents are subject to physical punishment, with considerable higher prevalence of violent psychological punishment, at 73%. Hence, it is one of the priorities for UNICEF Moldova to promote parents-to adolescent communication, and foster adolescents’ mental and physical wellbeing at school and household levels.

One of the objectives of the intervention is to raise awareness among adolescent boys and girls, their parents, policy makers, service providers and general population about bullying issues, and to engage them in identification and referral of cases of bullying and mental health related issues.

An essential component of project is to ensure communication of the interventions to the community, aiming to spreading messages to foster mental wellbeing in adolescents.
