SHORT TITLE OF ASSIGNMENT

Pacific Technical Expert for Strategy and Coordination of ECD and Inclusion Education

BACKGROUND

Pacific Island leaders have made substantial strides in Early Childhood Development (ECD), showcasing strong political commitment and a collaborative, whole-of-society approach to nurturing the youngest members of their communities. Under the guidance of the Pasifika Call to Action on ECD, nations have coordinated efforts to enhance investments in ECD, implement national multi-sectoral policies, and improve services in areas such as early childhood education, health, nutrition, child protection, WASH, child-focused social protection, and parenting support.

Established in 2019, the Pacific Regional Council for ECD (PRC4ECD) brings together Ministers and Permanent Secretaries from the finance and social sectors across the region. This high-level geopolitical network has gained global recognition as a model for ECD advocacy and action. As the Secretariat of PRC4ECD, UNICEF is committed to strengthening and harmonizing support for ECD through capacity-building, technical assistance, south-south cooperation, funding (including climate financing), and regional initiatives that support country-level programs.

This commitment aligns with the expanded Pasifika Call to Action, the 2050 Blue Pacific Strategy, the Pacific Culture Strategy, and regional sectoral priorities set by Pacific Ministers of Education, Health, and Women, among others. It is expected to draw insights from these frameworks while contributing to their implementation.

In 2025, Samoa will have the honor of hosting the Pacific ECD Forum for the first time outside of Fiji. This forum presents a unique opportunity to bring governments together to accelerate the implementation of the Pasifika Call to Action on ECD, celebrate significant achievements since the 2023 Forum, and chart a path forward to ensure that policy commitments translate into tangible actions and results for young children and their families.

Pacific Ministers of Education have also committed to the Pacific Regional Inclusive Education Framework (PRIEF), including its implementation through the Pacific Regional Education Framework under the guidance of the Pacific Heads of Education System (PHES) and with inclusive education as a standing agenda item for PHES meetings. An informal inclusive education taskforce formed to guide the Pacific Regional Inclusive Education Review, conducted by UNICEF, was then elevated by the Ministers to ministerial level, with UNICEF now serving as secretariat to the Regional Inclusive Education Taskforce. However, since the taskforce was elevated to Ministerial level, with only remote meetings possible, it has struggled to maintain momentum.

In the lead-up to the 2025 Conference of Pacific Education Ministers meeting, it is critical that the Regional IE Taskforce should be reignited and build momentum on IE.

OBJECTIVE / SCOPE OF WORK
