Individual Consultant to Support Mission Shakti of the MWCD for providing technical support for Child Protection System Strengthening (Open to National Consultants only)

Duty Station: New Delhi

Contract Duration: 12 months Closing Date: 14th August 2023

1. BACKGROUND

India has a fairly comprehensive policy and legal framework addressing rights and protection for children and providing opportunities to ensure that all children have equal access to quality protection services. Despite this, all across India gender inequality results in unequal opportunities. While it impacts the lives of both genders, statistically it is girls that are the most disadvantaged. Girls face multidimensional deprivations such as poverty, social exclusion, and gender discrimination. Due to the gender barriers still 4 million girls in India do not have opportunities to go to school. This deep- rooted harmful norm continues to expand where in adulthood only a quarter of women are seen in the formal workplace. Empowering girls socially and economically is critical for the more inclusive and sustainable growth of India. Changing the perception of gender roles takes time and can be achieved by investing in a range of assets for girls now, such as economic empowerment, education, nutrition, life skills, gender socialization, social protection, health, and protective services.

The Government of India has been making concerted efforts towards achieving the SDGs, by bringing all relevant schemes and programmes under the umbrella of three schemes namely Mission Shakti, Mission Vatsalya, and Mission Poshan of the Ministry of Women and Child Development (MoWCD). Ministry of Women and Child Development (MoWCD) has taken a cross-sectoral approach to promote adolescent girl's empowerment and address their deprivations through the Beti Bachao Beti Padhao (BBBP) programme under the Mission Shakti. It is a coordinated and convergent effort of diverse stakeholders and various ministries, and it has influenced the national and mainstream discourse in favour of girls and women. The focus is also to move from awareness of the initiative to influence behaviour change.

In partnership with the MoWCD, UNICEF India has adopted a lifecycle approach and focuses on adolescents as a cross- cutting beam with a strong lens on using gender transformative approaches to promote adolescent empowerment. Within UNICEF, the lifecycle approach for adolescents brings together the contributions of different program sections to promote the survival, development, protection and participation of adolescent girls and boys. Much of the work focuses on enhancing the value of girls, increasing the degree of autonomy adolescents have over decisions affecting their lives, reducing child marriage and adolescent pregnancy and improving the access to services, schools and entitlements for adolescents.

UNICEF India and state offices are working towards the strengthening of the BBBP programme as a long term and systemic intervention to ensure child survival, development, protection and empowerment. The partnership includes support for facilitation of programmes at the state and district level such as the planning, implementation, monitoring, capacity building, development of advocacy and social and behaviour change communication package.

UNICEF has supported the MWCD in successfully developing, designing, and disseminating the national guidelines and implementation framework for the flagship scheme in the country for the girl child and had a sterling launch of it on the International Day of the Girl Child. The strategic integration of primary issues affecting the welfare of the girl child in the country, helped us incorporate government-led action and communication on ending child marriage, addressing school dropout, more gender-equal parenting, and other such concerns. This has also led to greater convergence between relevant ministries and concrete steps toward gender transformative action at all levels of implementation.

UNICEF also partnered with MWCD and YuWaah (Generation Unlimited) and conducted a national-level event for promoting skilling for young girls in non-traditional livelihoods, where most of the beneficiaries were survivors who escaped the situation of child marriage. Two Memoranda of Understanding (MoU's), developed by UNICEF, were signed across 3 ministries (Women and child development, minority affairs, and Skill Development and entrepreneurship) in the said event to ensure state action for the skilling of young girls in a sustained manner. Similar events were also conducted with the ministry on the National Day of the Girl Child and International Women's Day in 2022. Previously, with UNICEF support an MIS portal and a communication guide and package for BBBP were developed.
